

Dr. Michael Bradley

Clinical psychologist and leading expert on adolescent behavior

Dr. Bradley will speak with parents on how to save today's overwhelmed teenagers with love, laughter, and the science of resilience. Be prepared to learn such tips as:

- Make your home the safe port in stormy seas.
- Be cool with not being cool: in adolescence, “hate” is the new “love”.
- Say a lot about what they do well, a little about their screwups, and say it all smart.

This session is open to parents and grandparents, as well as educators looking to enhance their repertoire of parenting skills. Join us!

Date: Monday, March 20, 2023

Place: Parsippany Hills High School
20 Rita Drive, Morris Plains, NJ
(Auditorium)

Time: 12:20 - 1:40 p.m.

Cost: FREE!

For more information, please contact Dr. Barbara Sargent, Superintendent of Schools in Parsippany-Troy Hills at besargent@pthsd.net