Highlight of Events

For students in grades 6-12

Registration is required

Blogging 101

Tuesday, Oct. 3, 6:00 pm

Join us for an interactive session to learn about publishing your very own blog, monetizing it, marketing it and making it fun for your readers! This session is hosted by Amish Bhavsar, Founder of Accel Learning (www.accellearning.com). Participants will have a chance to publish their articles on Accel Learning's blog for free!

Novel Writing Prep with Hillary DePiano

Wednesday, Oct. 11, 6:30 pm

Published author and playwright Hillary DePiano is coming to the library to give you a crash course in novel prep. From research, characters and brainstorming scenes to tips for finding time to write and strategies for fighting the fear and actually getting the words down, we'll get you all ready to finally dive in and write your story.

You can also participate in Teen Read Week by submitting a review of a book recently read and receive a prize! Review forms can be picked up and dropped off at any of the Library branches from Oct 1-16. The last day to drop off a completed form is October 16.
